BREAKFAST RESTAURANT

Lotte Hotel Moscow offers an abundant breakfast buffet with a wide choice of dishes. Breakfast at Lotte Hotel Moscow is considered one of the very best in the Russian capital, with more than 100 different dishes and beverages.

The overall restaurant space is enhanced by its luxurious and elegant interiors. Those seeking peace and quiet will enjoy three private rooms, aptly named after delicate flowers – Capucine, Pivoine, and Violette. Each of them is equipped with semi-transparent partitions and accommodates 6-8 guests.

Guests may enjoy live piano music with their breakfasts every Saturday and Sunday.

No matter the day, the breakfast buffet represents local, international, and Asian cuisines. Traditional European breakfast options include fried eggs and omelettes, bacon, salmon, sausages, ham, and an assortment of cheeses. We always use farm fresh ingredients that are prepared professionally and elegantly.

Regional cuisines are given special attention in the Russian Corner and Asian Corner.

MEGUMi is a cutting-edge Japanese restaurant that strives to harmonise the best and rarest ingredients from all around the world with a blend of traditional and modern Japanese delicacies, including 20 authentic products that are unique for the Moscow market. MEGUMi also offers a wide selection of carefully cultivated Japanese sake.

Two Japanese and two Russian chefs are responsible for cooking and serving these gastronomic masterpieces. The masterful chefs' work can be observed through the restaurant's open kitchen.

A distinguishing feature at MEGUMi is an aquarium of fresh seafood. True gourmets can feast their eyes on the exotic marine life as they enjoy fresh delicacies such as Kamchatka crab, oysters, lobsters, scallops, and mussels.

The restaurant also features four private dining rooms, each named after a Japanese flower: Sakura, Kiku, Hanabi, and Ran.
